C. F. FARQUHAR IS AWARDED BIG CONTRACT

C. F. Farquhar has been given the contract for building the new concrete reservoir which is to be used in taking care of Harbor City's water supply. It will be located on the hill southwest of town, and when completed will be connected up with the other units. The specifications call for a re-enforced concrete tank 34 x 120 feet over all, ten feet deep and will have a storage capacity of approximately 300,000 gallons of water. TOO TIGHT

Johnny—"These pants that you bought for me are too tight."
Mother—"Oh, no, they aren't."
Johnny—"They are too, mother. They're tighter'n my own skin."
Mother—"Now, Johnny, you know that isn't so."
Johnny—"It is, too. I can sit down in my skin, but I can't sit down in my pants."—Boys' Life.

A DIFFERENCE

Frederick was sitting on the curb crying when Billy came along and asked him what was the matter.
"Oh, I feel so bad 'cause Major's dead—my nice old colle!" sobbed Frederick.
"Shucks!" said Billy. "My grandmother's been dead a week and you don't catch me crying."
"Yes, but you didn't raise your grandmother from a pup."—Harpers.

GIVE CHICKS SKIMMED MILK

Considered Desirable for Youngsters During First Week, According to Specialists.

Skimmed milk is considered by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture very desirable for chicks during the first week. In order to insure that all chicks get the milk it is advisable to dip the chick's beak in milk before it gets any other food. (This can best be done when removing chicks from the incubator.) Give milk to drink as long as it is advisable.

MUCH LOSS IS PREVENTABLE

Farmers Lose $15,000,000 Every Year by Selling Fertile Eggs—Rooster is Cause.

Selling fertile eggs for market purposes during warm weather cost farmers $15,000,000 a year, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This loss is preventable. The rooster makes the egg fertile. The fertile egg makes the blood ring, which spoils the egg for food and market.

Home Town Helps

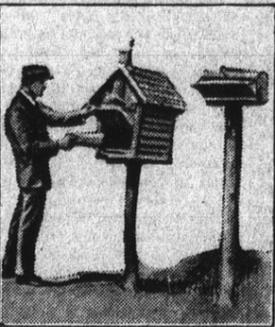

IMPROVE LOOK OF MAILBOX

One of the Best of Schemes is to Give It the Appearance of a Birdhouse.

The usual R. F. D. mailbox is a simple affair of tin and wood—efficient but ugly. It stands out in front of the house and spoils the looks of the place.

What's the remedy for this? Build more stately boxes.

Here you see a mailbox that is made like a birdhouse. It is divided into two floors—the lower one for papers, magazines, and packages, the upper one for letters. Each floor has its own separate door, which the mailman opens when he arrives. The upper floor is lined with tin to protect the letters from a possibly leaky roof. If you decide to try out this birdhouse-mailbox, don't be surprised if you find the makings of a bird's nest in the midst of your mail some fine morning.—Popular Science Monthly.

COMMUNITY HAS NEW IDEA

Blanket Insurance Practically Covering Whole Town is Said to Have Had Excellent Results.

All the workers employed by the various industries located at Kingsport, Tenn., have been insured against death, sickness and accident under a single group policy the New York Times records.

In all about two thousand persons employed by ten large concerns are thus protected and as the population of the town of Kingsport is estimated at about 10,000, almost every family in the community will receive a financial benefit in case of accident, sickness or death overtaking one of its bread winning members.

The policy has been in effect for some months. According to officials of the insurance company this is the first instance known where a whole community has adopted a standardized plan of insurance. The experiment is attracting the attention of many other municipalities, especially public officials who are interested in community service.

A prominent community worker has said that the prospective financial benefit to be derived by individuals under the policy was of far less importance than the general good which has resulted from the quickening of the conscience of the whole Kingsport community.

Garden Cities for London.

London is trying to work out its housing crisis by building little garden cities about twenty miles outside its limits. These experiments in wholesale home construction are being carried on by the enterprise of private capital backed up with the generous government subdivision that is being given to all home construction projects.

The profits of the promoting company will be limited to seven per cent of the investment, the proceeds over and above this amount going back into town improvements.

The ideal house, so much talked of in England, that resulted from the Daily Mail competition will be given a practical try-out in this new city. The name of the place when completed will be Welwyn Garden City.—New York Post.

Plant Vines on Indoor Lattices.

In altering old homes rather than in the construction of new ones, lattices and grills seem to appeal to the interior decorators' scheme of things.

The same manner of treatment is given a too expansive bay window, where, instead of curtains, decorative jars holding climbing vines are placed at the sides. The vines will soon make the lattice a thing of beauty.

The use of the growing vines on the lattice indoors is growing in favor, the plainness of the walls of the breakfast room, is relieved by the green of the climbing vines.

Foolish Question.

"Of course. Did you think he tied paving stones to his heels to keep him down and held his breath?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.
